Complaints Committee

The National Commission for Women have evolved a code of conduct for the workplace in accordance with the directives of the Supreme Court. In terms of this, the head of an organisation shall constitute a Complaints Committee headed by a woman and not less than half of the members of the Committee shall be women. The code further prescribes that to prevent the possibility of any undue pressure or influence from senior levels, such Complaints Committee should involve a third party—either a non-government organisation or any other body familiar with the issue of sexual harassment. In compliance with these directions, a Complaints Committee has been constituted in which a senior lady officer of M/o Steel has been designated as its Chair in Person with four other functionaries including a representative of the Human Rights Law Network an NGO.

The Committee’s responsibility is to ensure time-bound treatment of complaints made by the victims and submission of its recommendations to the Secretary, Ministry of Steel and to submit an annual report to the Secretary, Ministry of Steel. The Committee held its first meeting on 8.2.2002 and second meeting on 5.5.2004 with the women employees of Ministry of Steel. No complaint has been received from women alleging sexual harassment in the Ministry of Steel during the year under report.
STEEL AUTHORITY OF INDIA LIMITED (SAIL)

The Company’s promotion policy provides equal opportunity for both the sexes to be promoted at any level in the organization. The managements of the steel plants seek to remove barriers faced by women in selection, recruitment, placement, training, retraining and promotion and undertake positive measures to prevent discrimination of any kind. There is a conscious effort to create a conducive climate for men and women to work together in harmony on the basis of equality and equal opportunity, harnessing and enhancing their talents and contributions for optimal performance and well being at work.

The statutory welfare facilities like crèche, separate washrooms and other necessities provided statutorily are monitored and maintained on a regular basis by the concerned Personnel/Welfare Officers in all the Plants. Apart from these benefits, the women employees are also entitled for maternity and child care leave benefits.

The directives of the Supreme Court to deal with complaints relating to sexual harassment of women employees at the work place is being monitored on a regular basis. A woman executive along with other members from different areas heads the committees formed in each of the Plants/Units.
